In 2012 consumers continued to prefer using prescribed medicines for ear infections or for other ear care needs. In 2012 ear care only accounted for a negligible share of overall value sales in consumer health, with sales of Rs127 million. This was due to low knowledge regarding these products amongst consumers, which continued to discourage them from using the OTC options available in the market.

Euromonitor International's Ear Care in India report offers a comprehensive guide to the size and shape of the market at a national level.
