Abstracts

Price increases of edible oils in Mexico stemming from widespread inflation seen in 2022 persist; however, these are generally slower in 2023. According to Euromonitor International's Voice of the Industry: Food Survey 2023, 90% of the food industry has reported a moderate to extreme impact from inflation and rising raw material prices over the past 12 months. This is particularly evident in edible oils, where many oil types have experienced double-digit unit price increases in 2023, with rapese...
