Abstracts

The Mexican education industry expanded in 2018, due to rising enrolment rates as well as increasing education funding in line with the growing economy. However, education expenditure per student remains one of the lowest among OECD economies. Moreover, Mexico's education system remains weak and faces many challenges, due to inefficiently managed public education spending, as a major part of education expenses in 2018 were allocated to cover labour costs, leading to insufficient investment in ed...
