Abstracts

In 2019, finance and insurance witnessed slower growth in comparison with the previous year, as US economic growth showed signs of moderating. Business investment started to decline in the second half of 2019, due to a number of factors, including trade policy uncertainty and weak global growth. At the same time, corporate financing conditions tightened relative to the previous year, resulting in lower commercial loan growth over 2019. In contrast, consumer credit maintained a steady pace of gro...
