Abstracts

Total transactions value growth slowed in Western Europe in 2023, with many consumers' spending impacted by the still high inflation rates. Paper payments remained in decline, with electronic direct/ACH payments continuing to grow. Card payment transactions also continued to record positive growth, but at a much more modest rate. M-commerce continued to outperform the overall market, which is expected to continue over the forecast period.

Euromonitor International's Financial Cards and Payments in Western Europe global briefing offers insight into the size and shape of the Consumer Finance market, highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading companies and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market. Forecasts provide an invaluable perspective on market evolution and the criteria for success. The briefing leverages Euromonitor International's 360-degree coverage of the global payments' landscape including insight on consumer debt.

Product coverage: Consumer Lending, E-Commerce in Proximity Location by Industry, Financial Cards and Payments.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
