Abstracts

Value sales of fortified/functional packaged food in South Korea are set to see a marginal improvement in 2021, following a sharp decline in 2020. However, growth patterns differ across the category. Demand for FF baby food continues to decline due to a falling birth rate, which is one of the main constraints being faced by South Korea's baby food industry, as an increasing number of couples choose to only have one child or none at all, amid delayed marriage trends and the rising cost of living.

Euromonitor International's Fortified/Functional Packaged Food in South Korea report tracks the developments of health-associated product types and the healthy-option positioning of competing brands across different food sectors. It provides the latest retail sales data 2017-2021, allowing you to compare health and wellness categories with each other or in the context of the total market for a sector. It identifies the leading companies, the leading brands and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market- be they new product developments, legislative context or lifestyle influences. Forecasts to 2026 illustrate how the market is set to change.

Product coverage: FF Baby Food, FF Bread, FF Breakfast Cereals, FF Confectionery, FF Dairy, FF Pasta, FF Sweet Biscuits, Snack Bars and Fruit Snacks, FF Vegetable and Seed Oil.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
