Abstracts

Since the launch of Skylanders in 2011, toys-to-life have been one of the fastest-growing product categories in toys and games. With the launch of LEGO Dimensions in late 2015 the market is poised for dynamic growth in 2015 and 2016. However, the product's limited appeal in emerging markets and competition from emerging technologies such as smart toys and virtual reality gaming mean that the market will saturate very quickly and growth will slow significantly in 2017.
