Abstracts

Retail sales of food and beverage closures are on the rise and will likely maintain this trend to 2018. This growth is primarily driven by a significant shift from unpackaged water and yoghurt towards packaged varieties in the developing world. Despite this, brand owners will need to innovate with packaging and closures in order to boost the challenged performance in beer as well as demand for a greater consumer experience in saturated food markets.

Euromonitor International's Global Food and Beverage Closures: Key Trends and Opportunities global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the packaging market, highlights the effect of emerging geographies, categories and consumer trends on the packaging landscape. It identifies the leading pack types, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the packaging market - be they packaging innovations, consumption growth, category switching, economic/lifestyle influences, legislation or environmental issues. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and criteria for success.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
