Abstracts

A mix of factors such as smart homes, health concerns and green living are driving air treatment products growth globally. In 2016, among connected appliances, air conditioners lead global sales volume among all categories, largely driven by China sales. As connectivity has become the key development theme for different air treatment products, interoperability among different categories and among different brands reduces users' difficulties controlling each appliance individually.

Euromonitor International's Global Key Trends in Air Treatment Products global briefing offers a comprehensive guide to the retail sales data, allowing you to identify the sectors driving growth. The report also identifies the leading companies/brands and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the competitive landscape - be it new product developments, technological innovations, economic/lifestyle influences, distribution or pricing issues. Additionally, trade statistics and producer's shares will answer questions on where appliances are produced and where they are being exported to, how quickly these units are moving, which companies are producing how much, and whether all categories are behaving in the same way. Collectively, this gives a complete view in both marketing and production planning strategies. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change.

Product coverage: Major Appliances, Small Appliances.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
