Abstracts

Unlike in emerging markets, the growth opportunities for small appliances in developed markets lie in factors such as luxury, convenience, health-consciousness and “cocooning”, rather than rising disposable incomes. Since the growth in small appliances in these markets is driven by product replacement rather than first time purchases, continuous product development and advertising campaigns are significant factors in products’ success.

Euromonitor International's Growth Opportunities for Small Appliances in Developed Markets 2015-2020 global briefing offers a comprehensive guide to the retail sales data, allowing you to identify the sectors driving growth. The report also identifies the leading companies/brands and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the competitive landscape - be it new product developments, technological innovations, economic/lifestyle influences, distribution or pricing issues. Additionally, trade statistics and producer's shares will answer questions on where appliances are produced and where they are being exported to, how quickly these units are moving, which companies are producing how much, and whether all categories are behaving in the same way. Collectively, this gives a complete view in both marketing and production planning strategies. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change.
