Abstracts

Over the past decade, the UK government has systematically increased budget allocations to the healthcare sector, in part to meet growing demand from the rapidly ageing population. Over 2009-2019, the number of senior citizens in the UK increased by 23%, which was significantly more than total population increase of 7% over the same period. The rapid growth in this age cohort has brought about a considerable increase in chronic diseases and other age-related conditions, requiring constant monito...
