Abstracts

The hi-tech goods industry in China continued growing in 2019. Expansion was fuelled by global digitisation, resulting in strong demand for China-made electric and electronic goods. Domestically, rising Chinese disposable incomes and the country's continuing modernisation pushed hi-tech goods adoption among households, businesses and public institutions. Moreover, the government continued the Made in China 2025 programme, which aims to increase the added value created by the country's manufactur...
