Abstracts

Stagnating automotive output in Spain in 2019 had an adverse effect on the country's hi-tech production. The country's automotive industry suffered from weakened demand in most categories, as both the internal and foreign automotive markets showed only modest results. Based on data from the Spanish Association of Manufacturers of Cars and Trucks, automotive production in Spain remained at the same level as the previous year in 2019, which has left a mark on the whole auto making supply chain.
