Abstracts

The coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic has already had a wide-ranging impact on sales of consumer electronics and the industry's forecast outlook. Some categories like computers and peripherals have benefited as consumers are working from home, leading to more sales. With the pandemic having both an economic and psychological impact, consumers' sentiment will be severely dampened, with big-ticket items like televisions negatively impacted as a result.

Euromonitor International's The Impact of Coronavirus on Consumer Electronics global briefing offers insight on emerging geographies, key growth categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading companies and brands, and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market – be it new product developments, economic/lifestyle influences, distribution or pricing issues. From the latest innovations such as Smartphones, Ultrabooks and OLED TVs to existing technologies such as Laptops, Home Audio and Cinema Systems and In-Car Entertainment, Euromonitor International offers a consistent yet incisive snapshot of the Consumer Electronics industry. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and the criteria for success over the next five years.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
