Abstracts

Smartphones are increasingly being used by consumers to guide them while driving thanks to their built-in GPS function. As such sales of in-car navigation in Australia are coming under mounting pressure with the category continuing to record heavy losses in retail volume terms in 2023. Thanks to in-car chargers and enlarged battery capacity, smartphones can be used while travelling due to their ability to connect to different networks and offer wider coverage. Moreover, accessories such as winds...
