Abstracts

Over the near term, mounting inflationary pressure is set to limit purchasing power of the European population and curb discretionary spending growth. In the long term, however, consumer incomes are set to expand, remaining the third largest globally, due to high productivity, investments in infrastructure and robust technological advancement. In addition, low gender and regional inequality will continue to support relatively equal income distribution in Western Europe countries.

Strategy Briefings offer unique insight into emerging trends world-wide. Aimed squarely at strategists and planners, they draw on Euromonitor International's vast information resources to give top line insight across markets and within consumer segments. Written by some of our most experienced analysts, they are designed as provocations for senior management to use in their own forum, allowing them to stand back and reflect on the behaviour and motivation driving global markets today and tomorrow

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
