Abstracts

Outbound and domestic tourism were significantly downsized since the outbreak of the recession, as consumers were forced to reduce all types of expenditure, with travel no exception. With travel expenditure already at a low point, and with the country's economy seeing relative stabilisation after the long-awaited agreement between Greece and its lenders in spring 2017, a small rise was recorded with respect to both domestic and outbound tourism. At the same time and in line with global trends, o..
