Abstracts

The Internet Retailer Conference and Expo at RetailX took place in June 2019, and Euromonitor International was in attendance. Every year, the event shines a spotlight on the most significant e-commerce developments in the US, and this year was no exception. Three trends that were particularly prevalent in 2019 were artificial intelligence for retail, the dilemma of working with marketplaces, and developments in delivery.

Euromonitor International's IRCE @ RetailX: E-Commerce Developments in the US global briefing offers an insight into the size and shape of the retailing industry, highlights emerging trends, their effects on retailing in markets around the world, on the development of channels and consumers' shopping patterns. It identifies the leading companies and brands, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market – be they the developments of new store types, the importance of non-store retailing, economic/lifestyle influences, private label or pricing issues. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and criteria for success.

Product coverage: Non-Store Retailing, Store-based Retailing.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
