Abstracts

Off-trade volume sales of juice were under pressure in Ireland in 2023, largely due to the health and wellness trend. Irish consumers were more conscious of the nutritional aspects of their drinks. Thus, the high sugar content of juice counted against the category, as Irish consumers reduced their consumption of soft drinks perceived as less healthy or unhealthy. Therefore, all categories except coconut and other plant waters are projected to see off-trade volume declines, if slight, over 2023.
