Abstracts

Overall, juice posted positive retail volume and value growth in 2023, with demand driven by the soaring prices of fresh fruits, mainly oranges. When oranges are abundant and their price per kg drops, Moroccan consumers often make homemade, natural juice. However, when there are fewer oranges and prices rise, as in 2023, consumers will switch to the more affordable option of buying juice in packaged format.

Euromonitor International's Juice in Morocco report offers a comprehensive guide to the size and shape of the market at a national level.
