Abstracts

Burdening taxation and fluctuating fuel prices and external factors, such as natural disasters – for example the tsunami in Japan, political turmoil in the Middle East and the Euro-Zone debt crisis – have all led to a weaker performance of the airline sector. However there are opportunities in Asia Pacific and Latin America, where increasing disposable incomes among a growing middle class are boosting air travel. LCCs also continue to erode the market share of schedule operators.

Euromonitor International's Key Threats and Opportunities Facing Global Airlines global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the Travel and Tourism market, highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues. It identifies the leading companies and brands, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market from innovation, pricing, channel distribution to economic/lifestyle influences. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and outlines the criteria for success.
