Abstracts

Laundry care sales recorded healthy growth in 2020, with consumers in Middle East and Africa buying these products in greater amounts after 2019's decline. Coronavirus (COVID-19) and its economic impact saw some consumers relying more on old favourites like hand wash or bar detergents, while the previously dynamic, albeit still very small, liquid tablet detergents saw slowing growth, given these products' higher-than-average prices.

Euromonitor International's Laundry Care in Middle East and Africa global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the Home Care market, highlights buzz topics, emerging regions, countries and categories as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces.
