Abstracts

Economic reform and political turmoil have impacted portfolio profitability, pushing key players to diversify and leading to emergence of innovative concepts with a focus on technology to drive value sales. Despite growing competition from other categories, such as cafés, and a growing health and wellness trend, the return of foreign investment, local entrepreneurship and emergence of food aggregators are expected to boost value growth as limited-service players explore new concepts.

Euromonitor International's Limited-Service Restaurants in The Middle East and Africa global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the Consumer Foodservice market, highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading operators and brands, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the operating environment - be they economic/lifestyle influences, new foodservice concepts, outlet locations, menu innovation or format development. The entire industry is considered, including both chained and independent operators. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and what is the criteria for success.

Product coverage: Consumer Foodservice by Location, Consumer Foodservice by Type.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
