Abstracts

Luxury hotels is among the areas of the Dutch luxury goods market that has been hardest hit by the fallout of COVID-19. The category had a very difficult start to 2021, with occupancy rates for most establishments remaining in low single-digit figures due to lockdown measures and strict border controls. Trading conditions improved over the summer as falling infection rates and the rollout of vaccines allowed for the easing of restrictions that had been imposed to curb the spread of the virus. Re...
