Abstracts

In 2022, the Spanish government took a step to address menstrual poverty by announcing a general tax reduction from 10% to 4% on all menstrual care products, which came into effect in 2023. However, despite these efforts, the category faced challenges due to elevated inflation and the increased costs of raw materials, resulting in a continued rise in unit prices. Despite the decline in demand and consumers downtrading to cheaper products, including private label, menstrual care still experienced...
