Abstracts

Vietnam's population reached continued to grow in 2023 with 31% of the population being females aged 12-54 years, with this being important to the continued growth of the category. Menstrual care continued to boast stronger growth rates compared to other Southeast Asian markets in 2022 and 2023. This dynamism was largely driven by higher hygiene standards and the increasing urbanisation of rural areas, as well as improved education around the use of these products. Another small driver of growth...
