Abstracts

Millennials are starting to have children or already have young families, and are disrupting traditional parenting norms in many ways, being slightly older and more likely to share parenting responsibilities with their partner than their predecessors. Millennials are also making different choices when it comes to the health products they buy for their children, preferring natural products that are responsibly sourced from companies that are transparent about their ingredient formulations.

Euromonitor International's Millennial Parents in Consumer Health global briefing examines the size, growth trends and potential opportunities in the Consumer Health market. The strategic analyses include assessing the impacts of changing regulations, research breakthroughs and public health concerns on both the market and leading companies. Consumer attitudes towards the products and their personal healthcare needs are also explored.

Product coverage: Allergy Care, Herbal/Traditional Products, OTC, Paediatric Consumer Health, Sports Nutrition, Vitamins and Dietary Supplements, Weight Management and Wellbeing.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
