Abstracts

The development of mobile e-commerce in Bolivia in previous years was closely related to value sales through social networks. It is primarily younger consumers, especially urban millennials in the middle and upper classes, that rely on mobile e-commerce for various purchases. Most of the transactions via mobile e-commerce in Bolivia are for the purchasing of clothing, footwear, video games, household items and cosmetics. However, most of these transactions fall under informal trade. COVID-19 boo...

Euromonitor International's Mobile E-Commerce in Bolivia report offers insight into key trends and developments driving the industry. The report examines all retail channels to provide sector insight.
