Abstracts

2022 marked a year of mobility recovery in Canada. While light vehicle sales faced a slight decline amidst supply chain challenges and economic headwinds, other sectors like electric and alternative fuel vehicles demonstrated robust growth. Shared mobility categories expanded significantly, and the demand for car rentals surged. Canadian consumers showed a notable return to public transit. Additionally, the autonomous vehicle industry in Canada exhibits strong potential for future growth.

Euromonitor International's Mobility in Canada report offers a comprehensive guide of the traditional and newly emerging mobility forms. The report is broken down into five key areas of industry research: automotive sales and ownership, electric and alternative fuel vehicles, shared mobility, public transport, and autonomous vehicles and connectivity. It provides the latest automotive sales and registration and shared mobility data over 2015-2020, allowing you to identify the sectors driving growth. It assesses the strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market - be they legislative, consumer lifestyle or economic. Forecasts in the reports are available to 2025.
