Abstracts

Following a year of unprecedented growth, in 2021 retail sales of naturally healthy (NH) packaged food recorded a slight decline because of the easing of lockdown restrictions. Especially after the second quarter of the year, when foodservice venues were gradually allowed to reopen and out-of-home mobility increased, at-home eating occasions sharply dropped, reducing the demand for naturally healthy staple goods such as bread, pasta and rice through retailers.

Euromonitor International's Naturally Healthy Packaged Food in United Kingdom report tracks the developments of health-associated product types and the healthy-option positioning of competing brands across different food sectors. It provides the latest retail sales data 2016-2020, allowing you to compare health and wellness categories with each other or in the context of the total market for a sector. It identifies the leading companies, the leading brands and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market- be they new product developments, legislative context or lifestyle influences. Forecasts to 2025 illustrate how the market is set to change.
