Abstracts

Nycomed started its activities in 1874 with the production of pharmaceuticals for Norway. One of the main products was aspirin. It was sold under the brand name Nycomed Globoid, widely known in Norway today. In 1959, Nycomed developed a contrast medicine, Izopak, through which the company became a major manufacturer of contrast visualisation products in the market. Based on the traditions of scientific and pharmacological studies, the company has further strengthened its position as a world...
