Abstracts

Oils and fats products are staples used for traditional cooking in the country. Although value sales of oils and fats grew by 5% during 2015, the growth was slightly lower than 2014. All categories of oils and fats experienced slightly lower value growth rates, since it is more common to consume substitutes, such as olive oil and coconut oil, that are perceived as being healthier.

Euromonitor International's Oils and Fats in Dominican Republic report offers a comprehensive guide to the size and shape of the market at a national level. It provides the latest retail sales data 2010-2014, allowing you to identify the sectors driving growth.
