Abstracts

Overall, COVID-19 is anticipated to have a moderate impact on the sales of packaged food in the Dominican Republic in 2020. In terms of staple foods, the Dominican Republic domestically produces enough to meet the local demand, with production guaranteed. As a result, an increase in the consumption of local products versus imported products is anticipated in 2020. In fact, imports are scarce, and the local government is focused on prioritising domestic production. This effort is not only set to...
