Abstracts

The return to normality as pandemic restrictions were easing was resulting in unit volume growth in product areas across a number of industries, such as soft drinks, alcoholic drinks and beauty and personal care. This was benefitting pack types such as PET bottles, metal beverage cans, glass bottles, folding cartons and squeezable plastic used in the packaging of popular products such as soft drinks, hard seltzers, deodorants and fragrances. Home care also continued to record positive growth wit...
