Abstracts

Growing middle classes, the spread of certain diseases associated with dogs and cats as well as rapid urbanisation are fuelling the massive increase in size in both value and volume of the pet food market in Latin America. Due to these factors, Latin America has outperformed all other regions in terms of CAGR during the period from 2011 to 2016. The strong market size and performance of Brazil is largely responsible for fuelling this growth.

Euromonitor International's Pet Food in Latin America global briefing offers an insight into the development of the market, highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading and emerging companies and brands, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market, including background information on pet population, pet ownership by household and prepared gap ratio. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and criteria for success.

Product coverage: Pet Food, Pet Products.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
