Abstracts

Brick liquid cartons was the dominant pack type for plant-based dairy in 2022. However, it lost slight share of overall packaging volumes to metal beverage cans in this year, for a few reasons. When compared with brick liquid cartons, metal beverage cans provide an excellent barrier to light, oxygen, and moisture, which helps extend the shelf life of plant-based dairy products. In Malaysia's warm and humid climate, maintaining product freshness and quality is crucial, making metal beverage cans...
