Abstracts

The introduction of a number of restrictions, including curfews/lockdowns, social distancing measures and foodservice closures, when the COVID-19 pandemic hit the country in 2020, meant that consumers were spending a lot more time at home in 2020 than they would normally, and therefore also preparing more meals themselves in their homes. This led to an increase in the consumption of all product areas in processed fruit and vegetables due to the shift from consumer foodservice to retail that last...
