Abstracts

Processed fruit and vegetables packaging witnessed a sharp increase in its unit volumes in 2020 due to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. With lockdown measures and foodservice closures in place for extended periods in 2020, consumers, spending more time at home, were cooking more of their own meals. With an increase in home cooking, as well as some initial stockpiling of goods, this resulted in an increase in demand for both shelf stable and frozen fruit and vegetables, with such vegetables i...
