Abstracts

After experiencing a retail volume decline in 2019, processed meat and seafood has seen strong growth in 2020, due to COVID-19. As consumers were advised to stay at home where possible to try and limit transmission of the virus, at-home consumption increased, raising the retail volume and current value growth rates. However, varied consumption patterns were noticed in the shelf stable, chilled and frozen categories. In terms of shelf stable products, sales of canned references increased strongly...
