Abstracts

Western Europe leads global retail value sales of processed meat and seafood. This is driven by high unit prices and growth in categories perceived as healthier, such as processed seafood and meat substitutes, driven by flexitarian diets and a growing desire for plant-based food. In the coming years, new developments will be focused on these areas. This report includes a regional overview and key trends of processed meat and seafood in different markets.

Euromonitor International's Processed Meat and Seafood in Western Europe global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the Packaged Food market, highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends and identifies the leading companies and brands. It also offers strategic analysis on driving packaged food industry trends like health and wellness, premiumisation, convenience and value-for-money and how those trends influence factors like new product developments, packaging innovations, retail distribution and retail pricing both historically and into the future.

Product coverage: Cooking Ingredients and Meals, Dairy Products and Alternatives, Snacks, Staple Foods.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
