Abstracts

The luggage industry faced significant challenges during the pandemic, with sales plummeting in 2020. As COVID-19 restrictions eased in 2021, travel rebounded, aiding sales recovery. However, factors like inflation, the war in Ukraine, and China's ongoing restrictions hindered complete revival. Travel recovery is expected by 2024, but the market will look different post-pandemic. Changing travel dynamics offer opportunities for luggage brands that adapt to evolving consumer needs.
