Abstracts

RTD tea remains in a slump in 2023, despite seeing some upticks to the category's performance in earlier years due to the novelty value. Overall, however, RTD tea is not a traditional or popular beverage in Lithuania, carries no clear benefit message, and is not well-represented on retailers' shelves. Added to which, such products are perceived to contain high sugar levels, which goes against the general trend for reduced sugar and sugar-free products as seen across soft drinks as a whole.
