Abstracts

In 2023, rx/reimbursement adult incontinence in Germany continued to record positive value growth, particularly given the increased costs of products and the impact of a high inflation rate. Nevertheless, volume growth decreased marginally, in a similar trend to previous years. The demand for rx/reimbursement adult incontinence in Germany is primarily driven by the country's ageing population, but also by women experiencing post-partum leakage issues. As the population aged over 65 years continu...
