Abstracts

Retail value sales of savoury snacks slipped into decline in 2020, with some countries seeing weaker year-on-year performances as a result of the economic impact of Coronavirus (COVID-19) hitting consumers' disposable incomes. Mobility restrictions also negatively affected on-the-go sales. However, sales rebounded in 2021, with further growth expected in the coming years, in spite of the increasing prevalence of health labelling regulations in the region.
