Abstracts

Natural decrease will propel continued depopulation in Slovenia up to 2040. Ageing will quicken as 70+ age cohorts surge and most others drop, transforming the consumer landscape. Life expectancy in Slovenia will continue to improve, remaining the highest regionally, but new health challenges and ageing will intensify pressure on state resources. Urban population will expand against the tide of depopulation, but mainly in smaller urban areas as all 10 major cities decline in size.
