Abstracts

2017 witnessed the steady recovery in the number of vapers and current value sales of vapour products in Malaysia. In 2016, vapour products faced a huge decline inflicted by ambiguous regulatory status and the subsequent ruling against sales and consumption of vapour products in six states across the country. Nonetheless, demand for vapour products is recovering due to insatiable smokers' desire for nicotine alternatives and, in turn, the sourcing of products from internet retailing or out of st...
