Abstracts

Sales of Swedish-style snus and vapour products increased in 2017, with this set to continue over the forecast period, albeit at a significantly slower pace. Sales of Swedish-style snus will be driven by the growing population in Sweden, with this being a result of both a relatively high birth rate by European standards and strong immigration, mainly from outside Europe. The prevalence of “snusing” is still low among women, according to Statistics Sweden. However, it is expected that more women...
