Abstracts

Eastern Europe is still leading in spirits per capita consumption globally. Despite vodka continuing to dominate spirits, consumer taste preferences shift towards flavour sophistication. This drives other spirits, whiskies and brandy. Mid- and high-income consumers prefer premium and higher price vodkas, considering them less harmful to health and inducing lighter hangovers. Food/drink/tobacco specialists is the best performing channel in 2015-2020, driven by two major players in Russia.

Euromonitor International's Spirits in Eastern Europe global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the Alcoholic Drinks market in both the off-trade and the on-trade, it highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces.
