Abstracts

Sportswear in Germany had a shy start to 2023, after the last quarter of 2022, when consumer confidence was at a record low. Despite initial pessimism about the economy in 2023, given the spike in energy prices, winter was less rigorous than expected. Inflation has stayed high during the year, which is set to contribute to value growth in sportswear in 2023. Nevertheless, volume sales are expected to remain far from the 2019 level.
