Abstracts

The consumption of jams and preserves fell in 2021, as consumers returned to trying to avoid sugary foods and being more health conscious. A year earlier, in 2020, packaging unit volumes had spiked, given the fact that consumers were spending more time at home and therefore had more opportunities to eat these products in a home setting. This downturn in demand negatively impacted the packaging unit volumes of glass jars, the main pack type, used in jams and preserves in 2021, but also the smaller...
